

ESG – Sustainability

In accordance with the European Union's understanding of sustainability, sustainability should not be limited to ecological aspects, but should rather consider the entire ESG spectrum (Environment, Social and Governance). In this respect, Method Investments and Advisory AG, Balzers, is subject to disclosure obligations under the Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation Act (SFDR). In accordance with these disclosure obligations, we hereby make the following statement:

Method Investments and Advisory AG, Balzers, is aware of its responsibility to help secure a future worth living for the next generations. The company does currently not implement the strategies for the inclusion of sustainability risks in the investment advisory process or investment decisions-making process as required by EU legislation and consequently does not take into account the adverse effects on the sustainability factors. One of the reasons for this is that not all relevant information is yet available.

The remuneration policy of Method Investments and Advisory AG, Balzers, does not set any negative incentives to disregard sustainability risks.

Method Investments and Advisory AG, Balzers, however, closely monitors developments in this area and will provide information on any changes on this site.
